

PRIVACY NOTICE SCHOOL WORKFORCE

Ambitions Academies Trust (AAT) collects and processes personal data relating to staff. AAT is committed to being transparent about how it collects and uses that data and to meeting its data protection obligations.

1. What information does AAT collect?

AAT collects a range of information about you. This includes:

- your name, address and contact details including email address and telephone number;
- Emergency contacts;
- Details of your qualifications, skills, experience and employment history;
- Information about your remuneration, including benefit entitlements;
- Whether or not you have a disability for which AAT needs to make reasonable adjustments;
- Information about your entitlement to work in the UK
- Information about convictions of a criminal offence which is "not protected"
- Equal opportunities monitoring information including information about your ethnic origin, gender, sexual orientation and religion & belief.
- Contract information including start date, hours worked, post, and role
- Work absence information including number of absences, reasons for absence, attendance at training courses.

AAT collects this information in a variety of ways. This includes data contained in:

- Application forms, letters of interest;
- Passport or other identity documents;
- Interviews
- Other forms of assessment including on-line testing (if applicable)

Personal data will also be held about you from third parties including:

- References from former employers.
- Criminal records check. All appointments are subject to a satisfactory enhanced DBS check and are only completed for successful offers of appointment.
- Employment background check providers.

Data is stored in a range of different places including HR management systems and on other IT systems, including email.

2. Why does the organisation process personal data?

AAT needs to process school workforce data to:

- Enable the development of a comprehensive picture of the workforce and how it is deployed;
- Inform the development of recruitment and retention policies;
- Enable AAT to perform the employment contract obligations it has entered into with the employee;
- Comply with its legal obligations and regulatory requirements eg. safeguarding, health and safety, etc.
- Exercise, respond to or defend against legal claims;
- Monitor equal opportunities
- Ensure AAT meets its obligations in respect of reasonable adjustments in relation to employment.

Where AAT relies on legitimate interests as a reason for processing data, it has considered whether or not those interests are overridden by the rights and freedoms of employees or workers and has concluded that they are not.

AAT is obliged to seek information about criminal convictions and offences in line with safer recruitment guidelines. Where AAT seeks this information, it does so because it is necessary for it to carry out its obligations and exercise specific rights in relation to employment.

3. The lawful basis on which AAT processes this information:

AAT only collect and use personal information about you when the law allows it to do so. Most commonly, AAT use it where there is a need to:

- Fulfil a contract AAT have entered into with you;
- Comply with a legal obligation;
- Carry out a task in the public interest.

Less commonly, AAT may also use personal information about you where:

- You have given consent to use it in a certain way;
- AAT need to protect your vital interests (or someone else's interests);
- AAT have legitimate interests in processing the data.

Where you have provided consent to use your data, you may withdraw this consent at any time. AAT will make this clear when requesting your consent, and explain how you go about withdrawing consent if you wish to do so.

Some of the reasons listed above for collecting and using personal information about you overlap, and there may be several grounds which justify the Trust's use of your data.

NHS Track and Trace – COVID-19

The law on protecting personally identifiable information allows Public Health England to use the personal information collected by NHS Test and Trace Service. If required to do so, Ambitions Academies Trust will provide contact details of all children and adults that have been in close contact with anyone that has tested positive for Covid-19 within Ambitions Academies Trust settings.

This is in accordance with Article 6(1)(e) of the GDPR 'processing is necessary for the performance of a task carried out in the public interest'. For more information please see the following government guidance.
